Genesee Community College has an opening for a Systems & Electronic Services Librarian. The Alfred C. O’Connell Library seeks a creative, technologically savvy, service-oriented librarian to ensure that the library’s information technology supports its mission, which is to cultivate learning and provide tools for discovery. The Systems & Electronic Services Librarian is a 200 day faculty rank position and is an integral member of the library service team with responsibility for managing electronic resources, including an integrated library system, technical support, training, and website management, and providing leadership in investigating and implementing new information technologies.

Master's Degree in Library/Information Science from an ALA accredited program is required. Preference will be given to candidates with post-MLS experience in an academic library and experience with management of integrated library systems (Ex Libris preferred), electronic resources, website design, and maintenance of computer hardware. Familiarity with remote patron authentication (proxy) and interlibrary loan software is desirable.
